"As soon as man REFLECTS upon himself
And his relationship to others
He becomes aware that
As such they are equals and his neighbors."

"In love's light
And its REFLECTION
We'll find our way."

"The world is a looking-glass,
And gives back to every man
The REFLECTION of his own face.
Frown at it, and it in turn
Will look sourly upon you;
Laugh at it and with it,
And it is a jolly, kind companion."

Dear Girls,

The person who seeks depth of being must reflect on his acts and on life's actions. This yearbook is your reflection crystallized. It mirrors an important part of your life and will surely lead to many a remembrance.

I hope that throughout your whole life you continue to develop the habit of Mary, the Woman "who reflected on all things in her heart", for that is the way to God. May her peace and that of her Son, Jesus, be with you always.

“CIRCLE AROUND THE SUN”

CHAPERONS:
Mr. Ron Codario and Escort
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Larson

The Baccalaureate Mass, celebrated by Rev. Henry Lavin, S.J., was followed by a breakfast for the graduates and their parents. Mrs. Roberta Stutzman, president, announced Maryann Golasa as this year's recipient of the Mothers' Club Award. Barbara Matthews received both the Balfour Award and the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award. The Phi Beta Kappa award was presented to Maggie Green.

To some people it appears that our world is slowly decaying and the products of our ancestors' labor and ideas are crumbling before us. Yet we ignore our slow ruin amid optimistic thoughts that serve no practical purpose. Of course they may be right but might they not be wrong? And might not their viewpoint only add to their overpowering thoughts of destruction? The world has never been perfect. Some believe that judgment day will be when the world has finally reached total perfection. All of this is merely speculation.

We must perceive our world's pleasing and disquieting angles in a realistic manner. We must realize that only through a slow evolution can each aspect be remolded into a more favorable shape. Our education has instructed us to observe this world intelligently. It has given us ideas for its change and refinement. Learning is a daily experience which has its foundation in our formal education.

We ourselves have undergone a slow evolution in our opinions, our actions, and our beliefs. In order to continue our growth we must continue to change and be open to new ideas. Our development and improvement will influence those we know and perhaps add something to their lives.

We entered Ancilla Domini as girls and depart as mature young women. Our spirits will continue to blossom and mature as we strive in life for the attainment of our goals. Our Catholic education has imbedded within us beliefs that will support us in times of worry which will occur during our lives.

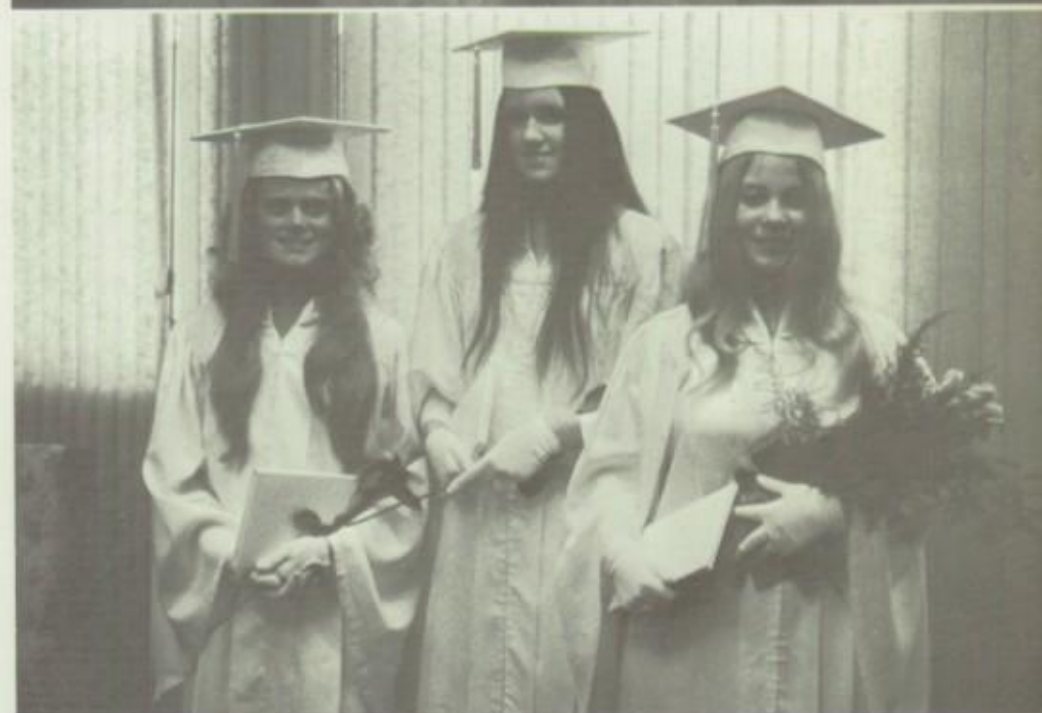

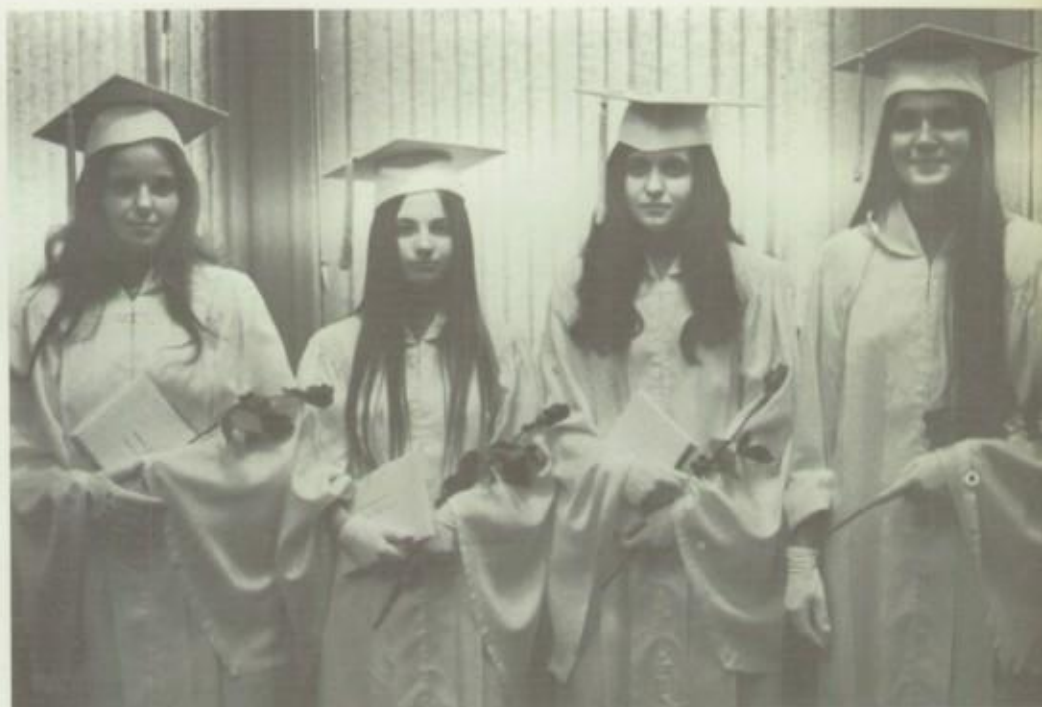

Throughout our childhood our parents were the strongest influence upon our characters. During adolescence they have guided us slowly to the point where we begin to decide and judge our world independently. The devotion and love of our parents has enabled us to receive an excellent formal education and also to experience life ourselves. Our sincerest gratitude to them is a natural extension of our love.

So it is that another milestone has been reached. Yet all of the incidents that encompass our four years at Ancilla Domini will not fade away and eventually be forgotten. As we journey forward, we shall reflect seriously upon our experiences. They will enhance our characters and influence new friends throughout our lifetime. We feel abundant gratitude to Ancilla Domini Academy; not to the abstract name but to the students and faculty whom it represents. It is humanity and our world from whom we learn and for whom we live.

Graduation Exercises were held Saturday evening, June 10, 1972. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Thompson addressed the graduates and conferred their diplomas. The Valedictory, written by Barbara Matthews, was delivered by Patricia Larkin.

SCHOOL SONG

Sing we a song of our school now
United in heart and will
Where we work and play
And we meet in fray,
Friendly contest and trial of skill.
Here our active mind information gains,
Here we learn in our duties to take great pains,
Making store for our life till its evening wanes
With a conscience at peace and still.

Praise we the name of our Captain
'Tis Christ the eternal King.
Unto Him we turn
As from Him we learn
The control that our efforts bring.
To desire what's right and to shun what's wrong
Is a battle that's fierce and a struggle long.
Then to Christ and His Mother Who make us strong
Let the air with our praises ring.

Then when our school days are over
"Ad Finem Fidelis" yet
We will bend our aim,
And our life we'll frame
To remember and not forget.
And as years roll on and our end draws near
When before our Creator we must appear,
Then our soul may be trusting and free from fear
If "Ad Finem Fidelis" set.
